Nonformal Education plays an important role towards the improvement of the life in the community particularly the out-of-school youths and adults. Aware of that role, the nonformal education program of our schools should provide rich and meaningful experiences to uplift the lives of the out-of-school youths and adults, to prepare them to meet the challenges and complexities in life. The nonformal education program must be relevant to the needs of the people so that their socio-economic problems will be solved.

Aware of these thrusts of the government, the administrators, nonformal coordinators and teachers who are involved in the program should broaden their educational trainings and experiences so that the program will be carried out successfully.
